Similarities Between Book and Movie

Core Plot: Both the book and movie faithfully adhere to the core plot of the Hunger Games, where young tributes from 12 districts are forced to fight to the death.

Character Development: The main characters, Katniss, Peeta, and Gale, are developed similarly in both formats, showcasing their strengths, weaknesses, and emotional journeys.

Similarities Between Book and Movie

Themes: Both the book and movie explore similar themes, including class inequality, government oppression, and the power of individual courage.

Symbolism: The symbolism, such as the mockingjay, remains consistent between the two, representing rebellion and hope.

Differences between the book and the movie

Character Depth: The book often delves deeper into the characters' thoughts and motivations, providing a more nuanced understanding of their personalities.

World-Building: The book offers a more extensive exploration of Panem, its districts, and their unique cultures, whereas the movie focuses on the key plot points.

Differences between the book and the movie

Pacing: The book's pacing is slower, allowing for more character development and world-building, while the movie's pacing is faster to maintain audience engagement.

Romantic Subplot: The romantic triangle between Katniss, Peeta, and Gale is more complex and ambiguous in the book, while the movie leans more towards a traditional love triangle.
