

Hunger games compare and contrast

By laila ghannam period 5

First difference between book and movie is in the symbol of the mocking bird and its effect on characters

In the book, the Mayor's daughter, Madge, gave Katniss the mocking bird, which is the symbol of peace. It was given to Katniss before going into the hunger games..

In the movie, Katniss got the mocking g from the black market and prim was worried because this was her first reaping and did not want to get chosen in the hunger games. Katniss gave prim the mocking g and told her she will be okay since she has the mocking g to make her feel safe and peaceful. The symbol of peace was given to prim.

The second difference between the book and the movie is the effects of Rou's death.

In the book, the only person who cared for Rous' death was Katniss because she reminded her of prim.

In the movie , Katniss and the common people were the ones who were affected and raised their hand which is a symbol of sympathy to the death of an innocent child.

The third difference between the movie and the book is that the movie foreshadowed that since Peeta and Katniss can work together to win, then the districts can work together against the capital

In the movie, Katniss and Peeta force the capital to accept to make both of them win. This foreshadows that people of all the districts can win over capital if they work together.

In the book, The Game makers decided that 2 people in the same district can win together in hunger games. This did not foreshadow any continuing in the events of the story and the book was concluded

The first similarity is when Peeta and Katniss had to represent their talents to the game makers to get sponsors and they impressed everyone .

The second similarity was when Katniss had to impress game makers to see her skills and give her a score. The game makers did not focus on Katniss and focused on pig as their meal. Due to frustration, Katniss shoot an arrow in pig's mouth to show how skillful she is.

The third similarity was in the scene where Katniss volunteered as a tribute in the hunger games instead of her sister prim. The common people did the same movement by raising their hand to Katniss represents a symbol of sympathy.

