

Hunger Games

Hussien Abdelwahab

Similarities Between the Book & Movie

1) Same Story Structure:

In the book and the movie they have the same characters, structure, plot and background of most of the major characters. Including, the beginning of Katniss volunteering to become a tribute for her sister Prim. And, that during the interviews with Caesar Peeta confesses his love to Katniss to the whole country. For characters' background they say that Katniss, Peeta and Gale are from District 12 and both their backgrounds are explained.

Similarities Between the Book & Movie

2) Stronger Relationships between Peeta & Katniss:

In both the book and movie, Katniss and Peeta form a stronger alliance and become closer together. They start to help each other and support each other during the training sessions, the games and giving advice to each other when they were in the one-to-one session with the gamemakers

3) Rue's Death:

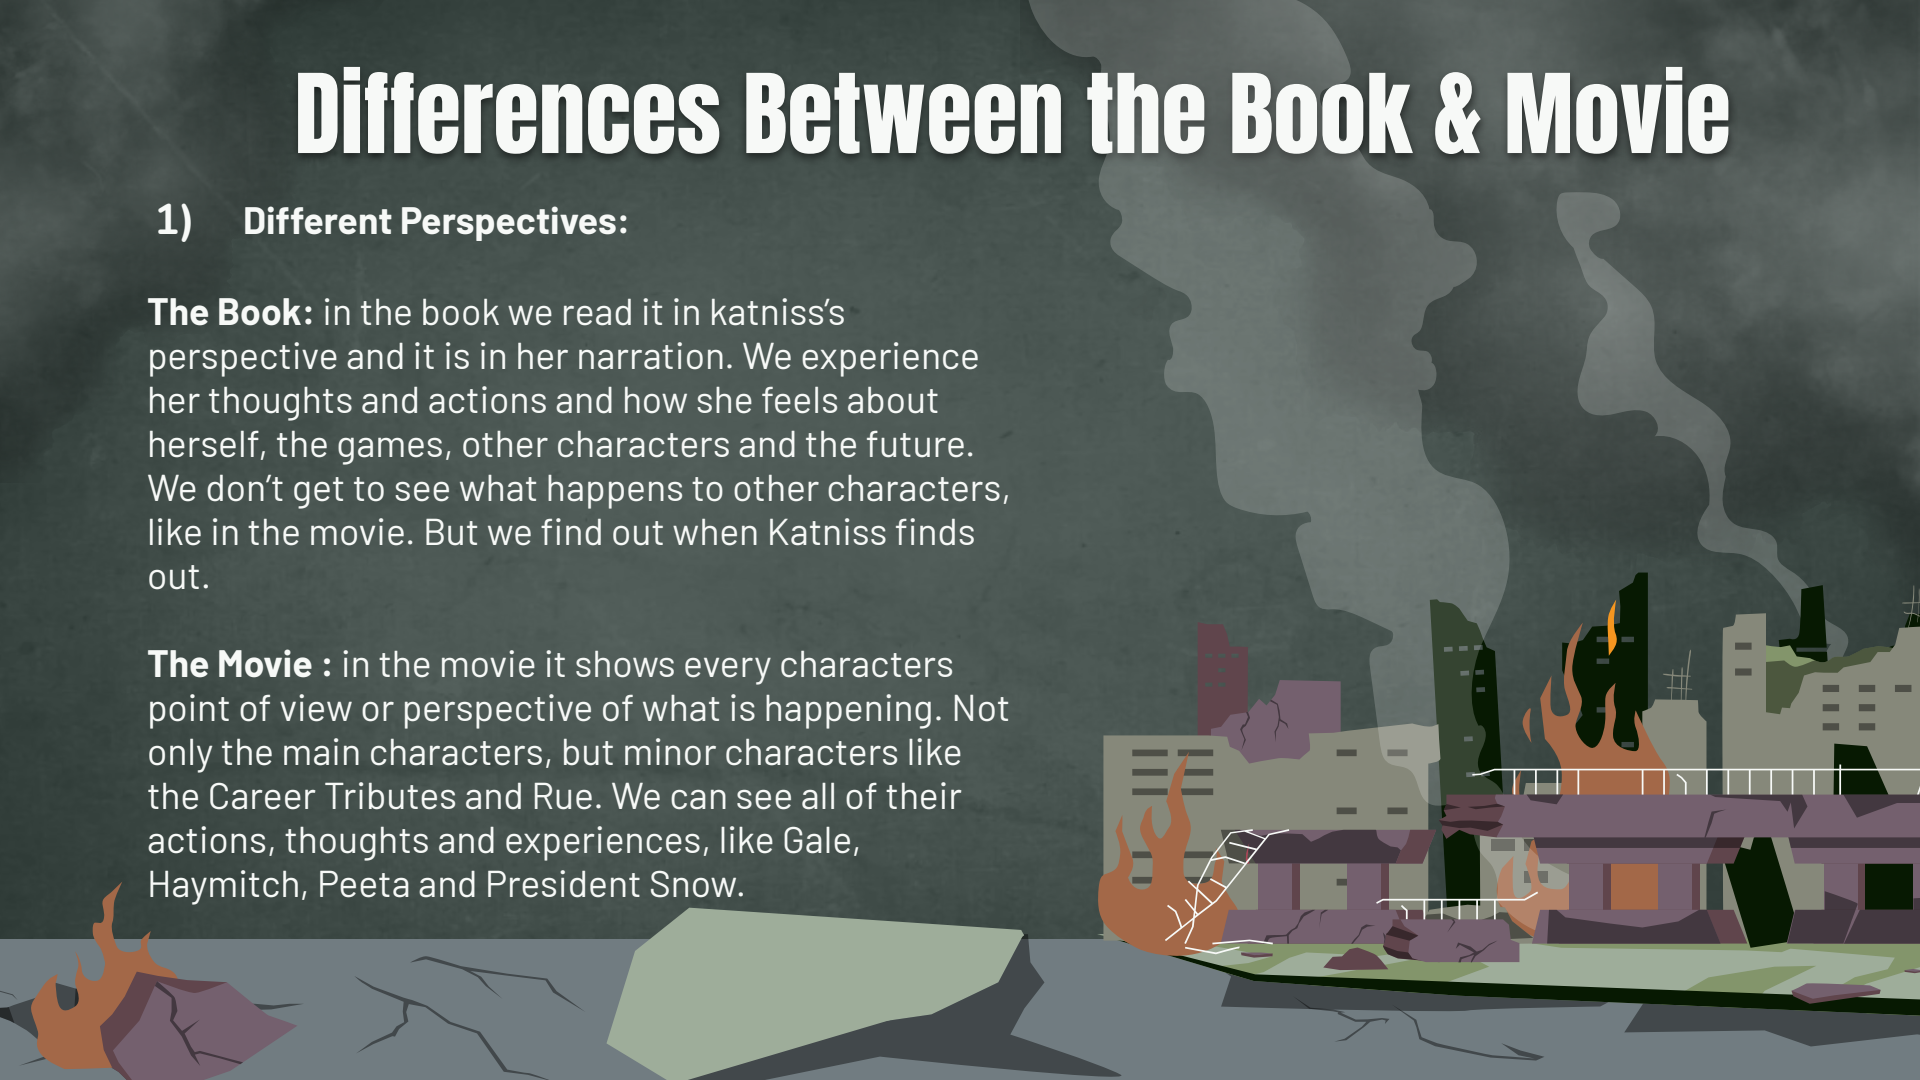

Rue's death in the book and the movie was the same. Katniss respected and honored her death by kissing her 3 fingers and raising it up to the sky, a farewell given for honoring the dead. And covered Rue with flowers to honor her district.

Differences Between the Book & Movie

1) Different Perspectives:

The Book: in the book we read it in Katniss's perspective and it is in her narration. We experience her thoughts and actions and how she feels about herself, the games, other characters and the future. We don't get to see what happens to other characters, like in the movie. But we find out when Katniss finds out.

The Movie : in the movie it shows every character's point of view or perspective of what is happening. Not only the main characters, but minor characters like the Career Tributes and Rue. We can see all of their actions, thoughts and experiences, like Gale, Haymitch, Peeta and President Snow.

Differences Between the Book & Movie

2) No Avoxes in the Movie:

The Book: The Avoxes are explained and described of what happens to a traitor in Panem. Having the reader experience the horribleness of a dystopian world in the book. And, where it has the reader understand the theme of power, control and corruption better in the book than the movie.

The Movie : in the movie the Avoxes are background characters and they don't get expressed and no details are said about them. They are important because they represent the theme of power, control and corruption of the dystopian world of Panem.

3) Katniss's Injuries were Different:

The Book: in the book she had severe injuries and she couldn't fight like she did in the movie. Her injuries were horrible burn marks, headaches , hallucinations, scars and lots of bruises. And the medicine helped her feel better, but it didn't help heal the wound only avoid it getting infected.

The Movie : Katniss was more active in the games and her injuries weren't that bad . Instead it healed fast and she only had a little wound, no red marks, burns, scars or any hallucinations. And, she was able to fight well after she took the medicine sent to her from her sponsor.

Thank You

